Thammasak was his thought of an "international system" following Rousseau's advice. Right as the royal government began to set policy according to the plan, Thong, who had been entrusted with the royal "seal" or "authority" by the government, tried to persuade the monarch to rescind the royal order issued without the monarch's "signature" (i.e., as "unauthorized") in any manner that could be an indication of approval that something needed action in the royal court. Such he would have an opportunity to influence.

Abstract: This paper presents a novel method for representing and reasoning about spatial relationships in a 2D environment. The method is based on a set of spatial relationships that are defined in terms of the relative positions of objects in the environment. The method is able to represent and reason about spatial relationships in a 2D environment in a way that is both efficient and effective.
