Paper Agric Final Exam 2014:

Irrigated Agriculture in Egypt Masayoshi Satoh, Samir Aboulroos, 2017-03-07 This book targets the issue of water scarcity in Egypt as a typical example of the world water crisis. Today the available water resource is facing its limit because of rapid increase in water demand as a result of population growth and changes in people's life style. The basic idea to solve the problem of water scarcity is that the irrigation sector, the biggest user of water, should increase water use efficiency. However, the real problem is how this can be achieved in view of the crucial need for water in this sector. This book addresses this challenge through case studies from the Nile delta in Egypt. The water problem in the Nile delta, the major source for water in Egypt, is discussed in this book from all its various aspects. This book covers the situation before and after the advent of the Aswan High Dam so that the reader understands the entire development. Another special feature are the extensive and scientific descriptions of contemporary topics in water and agriculture especially from the viewpoint of water saving and sustainability. These descriptions are based on field experiments and surveys in a six year international research project. Topics of this book are local but their implications are global. Krause's Food & the Nutrition Care Process, MEA edition E-Book L. Kathleen Mahan, Janice L. Economic and Societal Transformation in Pandemic-Trapped India Subrata Saha, Mukunda Mishra, Anil Bhuimali, 2022-02-04 This book acquaints the reader with the critical changes in India's economy and society amidst the unprecedented pandemic outbreak of COVID 19 which has been devastating by breaking all prior records of illness and fatality. The present crisis is shown to be more than an acute health hazard as it carries with it other threats associated with the economy, society, culture, psychology, and politics. The dynamic driving forces that have a significant bearing on life, space, and time are explored, providing a basis on which social scientists can understand the prevailing equations and project the unforeseen future to contribute to a policymaking mechanism. The Indian scenario presented here takes into account how the COVID 19 induced lockdown of transport services, closing of factories, and restrictions on mobilization have caused the economy to face a recession affecting mostly the unorganized sector. Travel restrictions and quarantines affecting hundreds of millions of people have left Indian factories short of labour, causing havoc in the production system. Semi-skilled jobholders have lost their employment, and the country has witnessed the plight of large pools of migrant labourers returning on foot to their homelands, hundreds of miles away, with their families and belongings. Contributors to this volume are drawn from diverse disciplines, displaying the solidarity of academic knowledge in a physically divided world. This common platform is provided to the practitioners of relevant academic disciplines under the umbrella of regional sciences, a forum for the exchange of ideas that may be effective in the sustainable management of the crisis and a way forward after it is mitigated. Thought-provoking discussions regarding different facets of the crisis are relevant not only to the current times but also to being prepared for the unforeseen post-COVID economic and societal order.

Strategies for Building Resilience against Climate and Ecosystem Changes in Sub-Saharan Africa Osamu Saito, Gordana

Kranjac-Berisavljevic, Kazuhiko Takeuchi, Edwin A. Gyasi, 2017-09-19 This book summarizes studies on climate and ecosystem change, adaptation, and resilience in Africa. CECAR Africa, a collaboration with the goal of creating an integrated resilience enhancement strategy as a potential model for semi-arid regions across Sub-Saharan Africa, combines climate change and ecosystem change research. The case studies were conducted at multiple scales: local, national, and regional, and incorporate the natural sciences, social sciences, and engineering in a transdisciplinary manner while also integrating the needs of local communities. The book chiefly addresses three thematic areas: forecast and assessment of climate change impacts on agro-ecosystems; risk assessment of extreme weather hazards and development of adaptive resource management methods; and implementing capacity development programs for local leaders and practitioners. The collaborative nature of the project and the use of various quantitative and qualitative research techniques and methods, such as field surveys, questionnaires, focus group discussions, land use and cover change analysis, and climate downscaled modeling, make the book truly unique. Especially at a time when both long-term climate change and short-term extreme weather events, such as droughts and floods, are worsening this book offers potential approaches to developing an integrated framework for assessing the local ability to cope with floods and droughts and for enhancing the resilience of farming communities in developing countries which are the most vulnerable to these changes and extreme weather events As such it will be of interest to a wider audience including academics professionals and government officials alike
