Survey of Economics Dan Condon, Institutional Constraints to Small Farmer Development in Southern Africa Ajuruchukwu Obi, 2011-04-27 The Southern Africa region has experienced more than its fair share of problems in recent years Just when it seemed that the hardships wrought by the devastating cycle of droughts and floods of 2000 to 2002 were a thing of the past other problems emerged At one level there have been the weak and often erratic governance mechanisms and political crises in some countries of the region leading to severe disruptions in agricultural production to the point that supplies and markets have virtually disappeared At another level socio cultural rigidities have often militated against the adoption of efficient farming practices resulting in sub optimal choices that lock smallholders into a low equilibrium trap In the face of the disappearing supplies and missing markets these have engendered hyper inflationary trends of a magnitude unknown anywhere else in the world But in the midst of all this apparent dreariness cases are emerging from which immense lessons can be drawn This book assembles a collection of research papers based on studies completed in 2008 and 2009 in Southern Africa that examine various dimensions of the institutional constraints small farmers are facing in the region and how they are going about dealing with them The papers draw from these diverse and polar experiences and present some theoretical and practical insights that should form the basis for more in depth country level sector specific analyses focusing mainly on citrus horticultures cotton and livestock The thematic issues of income inequality land reform natural resource management and value chain governance and chain choice are covered in this book and are expected to be of interest for a wide constituency including researchers development practitioners rural animators and policy makers

The Making of Economic Society Robert L. Heilbroner, William S. The Organization of Cities John R Miron, 2017-01-20 This book focuses on the relationship between the state and economy in the development of cities It reviews and reinterprets fundamental theoretical models that explain how the operation of markets in equilibrium shapes the scale and organization of the commercial city in a mixed market economy within a liberal state These models link markets for the factors of production markets for investment and fixed capital formation markets for transportation and markets for exports in equilibrium both within the urban economy and the rest of the world In each case the model explains the urban economy by revealing how assumptions about causes and structures lead to predictions about scale and organization outcomes By simplifying and contrasting these models this book proposes another interpretation that governance and the urban economy are outcomes negotiated by political actors motivated by competing notions of commonwealth and the individual desire for wealth and power The book grounds its analysis in economic history explaining the rise of commercial cities and the emergence of the urban economy It then turns to factors of production export and factor markets introducing and parsing the Mills model breaking it down into its component parts and creating a series of simpler models that can better explain the significance of each economic assumption Simplified models are also presented for real estate and fixed capital investment markets transportation and land use planning The book concludes with a discussion of linear programming and the Herbert Stevens and the Ripper Varaiya models A fresh presentation of the theories behind urban economics this book emphasizes the links between state and economy and challenges the reader to see its theories in a new light As such this book will be of interest to scholars students and practitioners of economics public policy public administration urban policy and city and urban planning
