

Installation

WARNING

Hazardous Service Procedures!

The maintenance and Trouble Shooting procedures recommended in this section of the manual could result in exposure to electrical, mechanical or other potential safety hazards. Always refer to the safety warnings provided throughout this manual concerning these procedures. When possible, disconnect all electrical power including remote disconnects and discharge all motor start/run capacitors before servicing. Follow proper lockout/tagout procedures to ensure the power can not be inadvertently energized. When necessary to work with live electrical components, have a qualified licensed electrician or other individual who has been trained in handling live electrical components perform these tasks. Failure to follow all of the recommended safety warnings provided, could result in death or serious injury.

WARNING

Hazardous Voltage!

Disconnect all electric power, including remote disconnects and discharge all motor start/run capacitors before servicing. Follow proper lockout/tagout procedures to ensure the power can not be inadvertently energized. Failure to disconnect power before servicing could result in death or serious injury.

Pre-Installation

The existing unit controls will require removal prior to installing the UCM 4.2 retrofit kit. This includes pneumatic actuators, volume regulators and any miscellaneous auxiliary controls.

The communications power and zone sensor wiring should be pulled to the unit. The wiring procedures and guidelines used are outlined in the /AV-SVX01C-EN manual.

CAUTION

Local and N.A.C. electrical codes should be observed when installing the UCM 4.2 retrofit kit.

Control Box Mounting

The next phase is to begin the installation of the kit. The controller should be mounted at any convenient location on the existing unit. Keep in mind the controller must be mounted in a vertical plane to the flow transducer will function properly. In a typical installation, the controller is mounted on one side of the unit, and the actuator on the other side due to space limitations. However, Trane's controller may be mounted on the ductwork adjacent to the terminal unit. The only requirement is the flow sensor tubing cannot exceed 10-feet.

Actuator Installation

When installing the actuator, the convention of the damper rotation is assumed as:

- Clockwise rotation of the damper shaft will close the damper.
- Counterclockwise rotation of the damper shaft will open the damper

All of the wiring diagrams assume this convention, Figure 1.

Hazardous Voltage!

Disconnect all electric power, including remote disconnects and discharge all motor start/run capacitors before servicing. Follow proper lockout/tagout procedures to ensure the power can not be inadvertently energized. Failure to disconnect power before servicing could result in death or serious injury.

Actuator Installation

To install the actuator, slip the actuator over the shaft of the damper and use a sheet metal screw to secure the actuator to the base of the terminal unit. Rotate both the actuator and damper shaft fully clockwise and ensure that the damper is fully closed. When the damper is fully closed, tighten the set screws of the actuator onto the damper shaft.

When following the clockwise-closed convention, wiring terminations for the actuator are shown in Table 1.

Table 1:

UCM 4.2	Actuator	Color Code	Function
TB4-1	COM	White	Hot
TB4-2	CCW	Black	Open
TB4-3	CW	Red	Closed

The actuator is now configured for clockwise operation (with the actuator closing the damper). If the damper is a 90° rotating damper, the actuator will close the damper.

Note: If the damper angle of rotation is counterclockwise to close, follow the above procedure except reverse the open and closed wires at the actuator terminal block.
