Bioremediation of Industrial Waste for Environmental Safety Gaurav Saxena, Ram Naresh Bharagava, 2019-06-29 Achieving environmental sustainability with rapid industrialization is a major challenge of current scenario worldwide As globally evident industries are the key economic drivers but are also the major polluters as untreated partially treated effluents discharged from the industries is usually thrown into the aquatic resources and also dumped unattended Industrial effluents are considered as the major sources of environmental pollution as these contains highly toxic and hazardous pollutants which reaches far off areas due to the medium of dispersion and thus create ecological nuisance and health hazards in living beings Hence there is an urgent to find ecofriendly solution to deal with industrial waste and develop sustainable methods for treating detoxifying wastewater before its release into the environment Being a low cost and eco friendly clean technology bioremediation can be a sustainable alternative to conventional remediation technologies for treatment and management of industrial wastes to protect public health and environment Therefore this book Volume I covers the bioremediation of different industrial wastes viz tannery wastewater pulp and paper mill wastewater distillery wastewater acid mine tailing wastes and many more which are lacking in a comprehensive manner in previous literature at one place A separate chapter dedicated to major industries and type of waste produced by them is also included This book will appeal to students researchers scientists industry persons and professionals in field of microbiology biotechnology environmental sciences eco toxicology environmental remediation and waste management and other relevant areas who aspire to work on the biodegradation and bioremediation of industrial wastes for environmental safety

Student Motivation and Quality of Life in Higher Education Marcus Henning, Christian Krägeloh, Glenis Wong-Toi, 2014-12-17 Higher education is a high stakes process involving engagement with curricula and often entails coping with the onslaught of assessments and examinations This process creates a level of intensity that impacts on the student experience in higher education It is therefore important to consider not only the motivational aspects of learning but also quality of life issues as they have profound effects on students Quality of life affects the way students interact with their formal education and has wide reaching effects on future careers and their ability to coordinate everyday events Integrating these two concepts student motivation and quality of life brings together the explicit elements that underpin learning in the higher education context creating links between the affective and social aspects of the student life This synthesis is integral to improving student retention and quality of life and has important ramifications for educationalists administrators pastoral care and academic support service personnel and students themselves Some highlights of the book include Applied Positive Psychology in Higher Education Internationalisation and Quality of Life A Taiwanese Perspective The Computer Assisted Learning for the Mind CALM Website Teaching Skills to Increase Resilience The Oxford University Peer Support Programme Addressing the Wellbeing of Students Higher Education and Student Stress Reclaiming Light Liberty and Learning Improving academic quality of life through attribution and motivation focused counselling Quality Breeding in Field Crops Asif M. Iqbal Qureshi, Zahoor Ahmad Dar, Shabir Hussain Wani, 2019-02-15 Development of superior crops that have consistent performance in quality and in quantity has not received the same emphasis in the field of genetics and breeding as merited Specialty trait requires special focus to propagate Yet basic germplasm and breeding methodologies optimized to improve crops are often applied in the development of improved specialty types However because of the standards required for specialty traits methods of development and improvement are usually more complex than those for common commodity crops The same standards of performance are desired but the genetics of the specialty traits often impose breeding criteria distinct from those of non specialty possessing crops Specifically quality improvement programs have unique characteristics that require careful handling and monitoring during their development for specific needs Adding value either via alternative products from the large volumes of grain produced or development of specialty types is of interest to producers and processors This work assimilates the most topical results about quality improvement with contemporary plant breeding approaches The objective of this book is to provide a summary of the germplasm methods of development and specific problems involved for quality breeding In total fourteen chapters written by leading scientists involved in crop improvement research provide comprehensive coverage of the major factors impacting specialty crop improvement Induced Resistance for Plant Defence Andrés A. Borges, Luisa M. Sandalio, 2016-08-18 In this century the human being must face the challenges of producing enough to feed a growing population in a sustainable and environmentally friendly way The yields are with increasing frequency affected by abiotic stresses such as salinity drought and high temperature or by new diseases and plagues The Research Topic on Induced Resistance for Plant Defense focuses on the understanding the mechanisms underlying plant resistance or tolerance since these will help us to develop fruitful new agricultural strategies for a sustainable crop protection This topic and its potential applications provide a new sustainable approach to crop protection This technology currently can offer promising molecules capable to provide new long lasting treatments for crop protection against biotic or abiotic stresses The aim of this Research Topic is to review and discuss current knowledge of the mechanisms regulating plant induced resistance and how from our better understanding of these mechanisms we can find molecules capable of inducing this defence response in the plant thereby contributing to sustainable agriculture we need for the next challenges of the XXI century Green Energy, Environment and Sustainable Development C. Wang, X. Zhang, H. Ren, 2023-10-19 The subjects of green energy and sustainability have never been more important as governments around the world wrestle with the problem of how to protect the planet from the damage being caused to the environment by climate change This book presents the proceedings of GEESD2023 the 4th International Conference on Green Energy Environment and Sustainable Development held in Mianyang China from 15-17 June 2023 and online via Zoom The conference aims to gather innovative academicians and industry experts in the fields of green energy environment and sustainable development in a common forum providing a platform for the exchange of the latest research developments in related fields This year the call for papers attracted more than 280 submissions 138 of which were accepted for inclusion in this collection The process of evaluation and peer review took place over six months and involved more than 100 TPC members and reviewers The book is divided into 7 sections green energy and systems computer methods in the environment chemistry and the environment ecology and the rural environment energy environment and economy environment and pollution and water and mineral resources Papers deal with the most up to date findings and technologies The book provides a valuable overview of the latest research and developments and will be of interest to all those working in the fields of green energy and sustainable development Food Sovereignty and Urban Agriculture Anne Siebert, 2022-07-08 This book analyses the interplay of urban agriculture and food sovereignty through the innovative lens of the critical urban food perspective It focuses on the mobilisation of urban food producers as a powerful response to highly exclusionary dynamics in the agri food system including insufficient food access and disastrous land dispossessions This volume particularly aims to fill the gap in the current literature by engaging with food sovereignty discourses and movements in urban areas Related activism of urban food producers in the Global South remains underrepresented in practice and in literature Therefore this book engages with the lived realities of an urban agriculture initiative in George South Africa Building on theoretical notions of the right to the city and everyday forms of resistance the book illuminates how deprived food producers expose inequalities and propose alternatives The findings of in depth empirical research reveal that dwellers perceive farming as a mean to overcome historical segregation high food prices and unhealthy nutrition Hence they breathe life into food sovereignty in practice and suggest further alliances beyond the city The book will be of interest to scholars and students of alternative food politics agrarian transformation and food movements as well as rural urban intersections

The Intersection of Economics and Ecology Gurudas Nulkar,2024-11-25 p This book is a machine generated literature overview highlighting the importance of natural capital while studying the economics of ecology It puts together available literature on this theme exploring it through the lens of sustainable development While the main content is machine generated each chapter contains curated published content overview and an introduction by the editor highlighting important areas and literature gaps describing the connection of the topic with human economy and examples of negative externalities The topics seek out research articles that show a connection with mainstream economy or rural livelihoods The connection between natural capital and human economy is well known but many of these negative externalities are complex problems to solve While there is a growing awareness to capture the value of natural capital in economic decision making there is no universal consensus However assessing the economic value of naturalresources and ecosystem services and integrating this information into decision making processes such as cost benefit analysis corporate reporting and government policy making holds a promise of finding long term solutions to these market failures By valuing natural capital decision makers can better understand the economic benefits and costs of different activities and policies and make more informed choices that balance economic social and environmental objectives Containing important introductions by the human editor to plug gaps in literature the book is a great resource for policy makers students of economics and sustainable development non governmental organisations working in this field and corporate managers who are responsible for allotting budgets towards corporate social responsibility programs
