Anastasia Shevchenko Professor Patricia Barker English 1302 15 November 2013 Frankenstein In Mary Shelley's Frankenstein, Victor and the monster share similar nature. Throughout the story, Victor Frankenstein and his creation share hatred towards one another. The two characters have the same objective that they are trying to achieve. They each not only value their learning through reading, but appreciate the natural world to help them cope, and have a craving for revenge when they feel it is necessary. While reading the story, the reader can see similarities between Frankenstein and the monster's eagerness for knowledge, gratefulness for nature, and devotion for revenge. As a young boy Frankenstein enjoyed learning new things. Victor's determined character was what begins his disintegration. In Victor's younger days, he enjoyed reading the books of Cornelius Agrippa. After reading these books, Victor had a different view of the world. Victor's parents thought that he should attend the University of Ingolstadt to expand his cultural knowledge, although Victor at the time was attending the schools of Geneva. When I had attained the age of seventeen, my parents resolved that I should become a student at the University of Ingolstadt. I had hitherto attended the schools of Geneva; but my father thought it necessary, for the completion of my education, that I should be made acquainted with other customs than those of my native country' (Shelley 25). This inspired the young Victor to attend the University of Ingolstadt to study science. "His mother's death causes him to delay his departure by many months, but once at the university, Victor spends two years studying chemistry under the direction of M. Waldman and M. Krempe" (Guyer).

In addition, the monster himself enjoyed to learn new things. From the very first day of being created, the monster had a desire to understand the way the world worked. Just as Victor had once done, the monster came upon three books. The Sorrows of Werter, a volume of Plutarch's Lives, and Paradise Lost were the three books that helped the monster open up his mind to the knowledge that these books had to offer him. "I learned from Werter's imaginations despondency and gloom; but Plutarch taught me high thoughts; he elevated me above the wretched sphere of my own reflections, to admire and love the heroes of past ages...

But Paradise Lost excited different and far deeper emotions" (89-90). These books shaped how the monster viewed the world around him. The monster did not only learn through reading but from the cottagers as well. "It impressed me deeply. I learned, from the views of social life which it developed, to admire their virtues, and to deprecate the vices of mankind" (88). Victor and his creation both had the passion for learning; this is what would eventually lead to their destruction. Similar to Victor, the monster appreciated nat

Interface between Literature and Science

Victoria Carpenter,2015-05-13 The boundaries of science and literature are permeable they are continuously crossed and illuminated by a variety of narrative forms and their interpretations Changes in our perception of the world are informed in equal measure by scientific and humanistic disciplines This volume treats both literary and scientific texts as products of the human mind therefore abiding by all the rules it creates scientific and humanistic alike The volume does not propose to replace all literary or discourse analysis with a cross disciplinary science based approach but rather uses this theoretical stance when more conventional means fail to explain or even explore the intricacies of a text It argues that scientific discourse can also be analysed through the prism of literary theories since all texts are governed in varying measure by the unity of contexts that characterize their nature the process of their creation and their place in the cognitive realm of humanity This approach will allow the nature and limitations of scientific research to be questioned while opening up more venues to explore scientific creativity that crosses the subject boundaries of science and humanities Latin American literature offers many examples of the interconnection between literary and scientific discourse Notwithstanding the often explored relationship between Jorge Luis Borges s literary themes and contemporary scientific discoveries a more general question should be asked is the influence of scientific thought a privilege of the select few or is it indeed an all pervading experience in Latin American literary narrative from late modernism to present day This book explores the texts that overtly incorporate scientific content or are structured in such a way that immediately reminds the reader of a scientific phenomenon it will also examine the texts that are presented in such a way that a conventional literary analysis does not help penetrate the many narrative layers that the text comprises The volume offers cross disciplinary readings of such authors as Jorge Luis Borges Gabriel Garc a M rquez Ernesto S bato and Gustavo Sainz to name but a few
