The Solipsism of Modern Fiction Harold Kaplan, 2017-07-05 In The Solipsism of Modern Fiction Harold Kaplan deals with the problem of action and its adequate motive in the modern novel In the nineteenth and twentieth centuries modern scientific knowledge abandoned the human centred view of the universe and thus the fictional modes that had been rooted in religion or myth The result for fiction was a radical skepticism on the part of the protagonist who now appeared as a reflective self critical passive figure lacking the dynamism of the epic hero or religious seeker One response to the scientific worldview was the naturalism of Zola and his followers in which the action of characters is determined by social or biological forces Kaplan however focuses his study on such novelists as Flaubert Joyce Conrad Faulkner Lawrence and Hemingway who dramatised the isolated individual consciousness in contention with the world and with the ambiguity of their own motivations The Solipsism of Modern Fiction deals with several related topics that grow from one source the crisis of knowledge in modern intellectual history The effects of solipsism and of moral passivity the split consciousness that divides action and understanding the perspectives of primitive naturalism and stoic naturalism the variations of the comic mood and the example of tragedy are all themes that are dramatised in Kaplan's readings of Madame Bovary Light in August Ulysses Lord Jim and other exemplary modern novels that associate themselves with the problem of self criticism knowing and acting Written by one of the outstanding literary scholars of our time this book will inspire new generations of readers and writers

Imagination and Fantasy in the Middle Ages and Early Modern Time Albrecht Classen, 2020-08-24 The notions of other peoples cultures and natural conditions have always been determined by the epistemology of imagination and fantasy providing much freedom and creativity and yet have also created much fear anxiety and horror In this regard the pre modern world demonstrates striking parallels with our own insofar as the projections of alterity might be different by degrees but they are fundamentally the same by content Dreams illusions projections concepts hopes utopias dystopias desires and emotional attachments are as specific and impactful as the physical environment This volume thus sheds important light on the various lenses used by people in the Middle Ages and the early modern age as to how they came to terms with their perceptions images and notions Previous scholarship focused heavily on the history of mentality and history of emotions whereas here the history of pre modern imagination and fantasy assumes center position Imaginary things are taken seriously because medieval and early modern writers and artists clearly reveal their great significance in their works and their daily lives This approach facilitates a new deep structure analysis of pre modern culture

Gaming the Metaverse Benjamin Beil, Gundolf S. Freyermuth, Isabelle Hamm, Vanessa

Ossa,2025-01-14 Neal Stephenson's 1992 novel Snow Crash conceived of the Metaverse as an escapist medium within a dystopian future. By the early 2000s his vision had evolved into a blueprint for pioneering virtual worlds notably Second Life. In the 2010s technology companies from Meta to Epic Games recast the Metaverse as the next frontier of digital experience and revenue generation. Now in the 2020s the still speculative concept encompasses a convergence of extended reality technologies alongside blockchain systems and artificial intelligence. This volume brings together leading scholars and industry professionals to examine past imaginations and recent achievements in the pursuit of the Metaverse. Contributors trace its development through literary media and cultural history while exploring current applications and their technical, social, cultural, and economic implications.
