Rebuilding Britain Planning For A Better Future:

Rebuilding Britain Ellis, Hugh, Henderson, Kate, 2014-09-24 Britain faces extraordinary challenges from climate change to growing inequality and global economics but as a nation it has no plan for the future This unique book asks a simple question how can Britain organise itself not just for survival but to build a fairer and sustainable society The arguments refer to the high ambitions of those who pioneered the planning movement and campaigned for a clear set of progressive values but whose drive for utopia has now been forgotten The book takes a distinctive approach to exploring the value to society of social town planning and offers a doorway for how planning both morally and practically can help to meet key challenges of the 21st century It challenges the widely held view that it s impossible to achieve a better future by suggesting that there is real choice in how society develops and pointing to contemporary examples of utopia This accessible book makes essential reading for students in the built environment and the wider social sciences who have an interest in UK and European examples of sustainable communities

The Future for Planners Ben Clifford, Susannah Gunn, Andy Inch, Abigail Schoneboom, Jason Slade, Malcolm Tait, Geoff Vigar, 2024-08-21 Spatial planning is at a crossroads with government reform undermining the traditional vision of state employed planners making decisions about urban development in a unified public interest Nearly half of UK planners are now employed in the private sector with complex inter relations between the sectors including supplying outsourced services to local authorities struggling with centrally imposed budget cuts Drawing on new empirical data from a major research project Working in the Public Interest this book reveals what it s like to be a UK planner in the early 21st century and how the profession can fulfil its potential for the benefit of society and the environment

The Green Belt, Housing Crises and Planning Systems Charles Edward Goode, 2025-03-31 This book evaluates the effectiveness of the Green Belt planning policy in England It is one of the most well known strategies internationally with similar growth restraint policies having been adopted in a diverse range of cities around the world such as Portland Medellin and Bangkok Despite this it is often argued that Green Belts contribute to wider inequitable outcomes in society Focusing on the Green Belt in England the book critically analyses the extent to which these policies and planning systems contribute to housing crises and examines how far they need to be reformed With the central role of community engagement in many of the debates about housing crises the book investigates the characteristics of popular and campaigner opposition to housebuilding alongside investigating the power relations and politics of planning systems This timely research taps into important current policy debates in the UK surrounding urban nature green infrastructure and building on the grey belt The book is therefore of relevance and benefit to policymakers and politicians to academics and students internationally from a range of fields interested in housing community engagement green infrastructure strategic planning power and politics and conservation

Smart Futures, Challenges of Urbanisation, and Social Sustainability Mohammad Dastbaz,Wim Naudé,Jamileh Manoochehri,2018-04-10 This book tackles the challenges posed by accelerating urbanization and demystifies Social Sustainability the least understood of all the different areas of sustainable development The volume s twin focus on these profoundly intertwined topics creates a nuanced and vitally important resource Large migrations from rural areas to cities without appropriate planning and infrastructure improvements including housing education and health care optimization have created significant challenges across the globe The authors suggest technology rich strategies to meet these challenges by careful application of data on population growth and movement to the planning design and construction of operational infrastructures that can sustainably support our increasingly rapid population growth

The Urban Archetypes of Jane Jacobs and Ebenezer Howard Abraham Akkerman,2020-01-09 Ebenezer Howard an Englishman and Jane Jacobs a naturalized Canadian personify the twentieth century s opposing outlooks on cities Howard had envisaged small towns newly built from scratch fashioned on single family homes with small gardens Jacobs embraced existing inner city neighbourhoods emphasizing the verve of the living street From Howard s idea the American Dream of garden suburbs had emerged yet his conceptualization of a modern city received criticism for being uniform and alienated from the rest of the city Similarly at the turn of the new century Jacobs inner city neighbourhoods came to be recognized as the result of commodification vacillating between poverty and newly discovered hubs of urban authenticity Presenting Howard and Jacobs within a psychocultural context The Urban Archetypes of Jane Jacobs and Ebenezer Howard addresses our urban crisis in the recognition that city form is a gendered allegorical medium expressing femininity and masculinity within two founding features of the built environment void and volume Both founding contrasts bring tensions but also the opportunities of fusion between pairs of urban polarities human scale against superscale gait against speed and spontaneity against surveillance Jacobs and Howard in their respective attitudes have come to embrace the two ancient archetypes the Garden and the Citadel leaving it to future generations to blend their two contrarian stances

How to Build Houses and Save the Countryside Shaun Spiers,2018-03-14 England faces a housing crisis a growing population requires a substantial investment in new housing but house building is a source of great controversy in large part because it is seen as destroying irreplaceable swaths of countryside In this provocative book Shaun Spiers offers a middle course acknowledging both sides of the debate but building a strong case that government can forge a contract with civil society one that trades the acceptance of the loss of some countryside for the promise of high quality affordable housing development in suitable locations

Rethinking Poverty Barry Knight, 2017-08-30 This book calls for a bold forward looking social policy that addresses continuing austerity under resourced organisations and a lack of social solidarity Based on a research programme by the Webb Memorial Trust a key theme is power which shows that the way forward is to increase people's sense of agency in building the society that they want

Affective Polarisation Ifor ap Glyn, Anisia Elisabeta Petcu, 2023-09-25 Inequality is an ever present danger in our society This book addresses the nexus between the lived experience of inequality and how it shapes political responses It offers a powerful examination of how the politics of the UK and the lived experiences of its residents have been reframed in the first decades of the twentyfirst century

Whose Land Is Our Land? Peter Hetherington, 2015-08-26 In recent decades rising land prices and ever increasing demand for housing have made it incredibly difficult for farms to sustain themselves in Britain with dangerous consequences for food supplies Government attention to the issue has been limited at best which has led to speculation and the loss of more and more farmland With Whose Land Is Our Land Peter Hetherington mounts a powerful argument for a more active forward thinking policy one that acknowledges the importance of farming rural society and food security and takes stronger action to curb speculation and rampant overbuilding

Land Renewed Peter Hetherington, 2021-10-22 Exploring the challenges of climate change Brexit and recovery from the COVID 19 pandemic Peter Hetherington argues that we need to re shape the countryside with an adventurous new agenda for rural life outside the EU

Lessons from the British and French New Towns David Fée, Bob Colenutt, Sabine Coady Schäbitz, 2020-11-18 This book explores the evolution of New Towns in France and the UK in a number of areas governance planning and heritage and assess whether their legacy can inspire current planned settlements

Planning Practice Jessica Ferm, John Tomaney, 2018-06-13 Planning Practice Critical Perspectives from the UK provides the only comprehensive overview of contemporary planning practice in the UK Drawing on contributions from leading researchers in the field it examines the tools contexts and outcomes of planning practice Part I examines planning processes and tools and the extent to which theory and practice diverge covering plan making Development Management planning gain public engagement and place making Part II examines the changing contexts within which planning practice takes place including privatisation and deregulation devolution and multi level governance increased ethnic and social diversity growing environmental concerns and the changing nature of commercial real estate Part III focuses on how planning practice produces outcomes for the built environment in relation to housing infrastructure economic progress public transport and regeneration The book considers what it means to be a reflective practitioner in the modern planning system the constraints and opportunities that planners face in their daily work and the ethical and political challenges they must confront Building the Post-war World Nicholas Bullock,2002 Building the Post War World offers for the first time an overall account of Modern Architecture in the decade after the Second World War The Experience of Modernism John R. Gold,2013-12-16 Making extensive use of information gained from in depth interviews with architects active in the period between 1928 1953 the author provides a sympathetic understanding of the Modern Movement s architectural role in reshaping the fabric and structure of British metropolitan cities in the post war period and traces the links between the experience of British modernists and the wider international modern movement Labor and Industry in Britain ,1946 Congressional Record United States. Congress,1941 Social Services in Britain Great Britain. Central Office of Information. Reference Division,1966 Electoral Pledges in Britain Since 1918 David Thackeray,Richard Toye,2020-08-04 Nobody doubts that politicians ought to fulfil their promises what people cannot agree about is what this means in practice The purpose of this book is to explore this issue through a series of case studies It shows how the British model of politics has changed since the early twentieth century when electioneering was based on the articulation of principles which it was expected might well be adapted once the party or politician that promoted them took office Thereafter manifestos became increasingly central to electoral politics and to the practice of governing and this has been especially the case since 1945 Parties were now expected to outline in detail what they would do in office and explain how the policies would be paid for Brexit has complicated this process with the will of the people as supposedly expressed in the 2016 referendum result clashing with the conventional role of the election manifesto as offering a mandate for action

When We Build Again Bournville Village Trust,2013-07-24 Like many UK cities Birmingham was heavily bombed during the Second World War and as with so many bombed British cities and many un bombed ones that jumped on to the re planning bandwagon there was a clear imperative to reconstruct But Birmingham was atypical in how it went about this The city had begun planning in the mid 1930s principally to replace vast quantities of slum housing and there had been suggestions about ring roads even from the time of the First World War So plans were available virtually ready to go and were approved by a private Act of Parliament in 1946 Yet within Birmingham there were individuals and organisations with a great interest and influence in planning matters This followed a significant and long standing local tradition from the Chamberlain family to Nettlefold s pioneering work on planning and housing at the start of the twentieth century Prominent amongst these was the Cadbury family and the Bournville Village Trust and one of its immediate responses to bomb damage was the book When We Build Again This was immediately influential in several respects as contemporary reviews and ongoing citations demonstrate It highlighted some less palatable truths about conditions in the city and more widely with ideas about what might be done To modern eyes some of these are radical for example the wholesale redevelopment of the Jewellery Quarter an area which was recently proposed for World Heritage status The origins of the derided post war comprehensive clearance approach lie in these papers Further it used innovative and striking graphics to communicate statistical information to lay readers including the use of striking photography of places and particularly people Also included in this volume is a facsimile of a second Bournville Trust publication from 1955 Birmingham Fifty Years On This less famous but equally important publication grew from a frustration at the slow pace of post war reconstruction and envisaged what the city would look like half a century later
