Seeking Impact and Visibility Trotter, Henry, Kell, Catherine, 2014-06-12 African scholarly research is relatively invisible globally because even though research production on the continent is growing in absolute terms, it is falling in comparative terms. In addition, traditional metrics of visibility such as the Impact Factor fail to make legible all African scholarly production. Many African universities also do not take a strategic approach to scholarly communication to broaden the reach of their scholars' work. To address this challenge, the Scholarly Communication in Africa Programme (SCAP) was established to help raise the visibility of African scholarship by mapping current research and communication practices in Southern African universities and by recommending and piloting technical and administrative innovations based on open access dissemination principles. To do this, SCAP conducted extensive research in four faculties at the Universities of Botswana, Cape Town, Mauritius, and Namibia.

The Political Economy of Natural Resources and Development Paul A. Haslam, Pablo Heidrich, 2016-02-05 The Political Economy of Resources and Development offers a unique and multidisciplinary perspective on how the commodity boom of the mid 2000s reshaped the model of development throughout Latin America and elsewhere in the developing world. Governments increased taxes and royalties on the resource sector the nationalization of foreign firms returned to the mainstream economic policy agenda and public spending on social and developmental goals surged These trends often described as resource nationalism have developed into a strategy for economic development generated a re imagining of the state and its institutional possibilities and created a new but very significant political risk for extractive enterprises However these innovations which constitute the most dramatic change in development policy in Latin America since the advent of neoliberalism have so far received little attention from either academic or policy oriented publications This book explores the reasons behind these policies and their effects on states firms and development trajectories This text brings together renowned thematic experts to examine the political economic causes of resource nationalism as well as its manifestation in six Latin American countries The causal variables considered by the contributors to this collection include a range of political economic determinants of policy including commodity prices the influence of ideology and national politics ideas about industrial policy relations between host governments and investors and how countries respond to opportunities provided by regional initiatives and the new geography of the global economy This volume is essential reading in development economics political economy and Latin American studies as well as for those who want to understand what economic development means after neoliberalism

Cultures of Sustainable Peace Hyab Teklehaimanot Yohannes, Alison Phipps, Tawona Sitholé, 2024-12-10 This book shifts the focus of peacebuilding away from nation states and international organisations to make a powerful argument that sustainable peacebuilding is the work of ordinary people It brings together work done in Gaza Ghana Mexico Morocco and Zimbabwe alongside work with refugees in Scotland to argue for a place for successful intercultural relations as a central aim of peacebuilding moving beyond the more usual focus on economic development With a particular emphasis on addressing gender based violence and the role of women in peacebuilding together with a central role for arts and culture as a means of resistance and social change the chapters represent the fruit of collaborative work across geographical and cultural borders between artists activists and academics bringing a wide range of disciplinary perspectives to bear on situations of violence and precarity In a world where peace work can feel increasingly futile this book makes a powerful case for the crucial role of local action and cultural work and play in the creation of a better future The book will be open access under a CC BY ND licence

Electronic Legal Deposit Paul Gooding, Melissa Terras, 2020-10-02. Legal deposit libraries, the national and academic institutions who systematically preserve our written cultural record, have recently been mandated with expanding their collection practices to include digitised and born digital materials. The regulations that govern electronic legal deposit often also prescribe how these materials can be accessed. Although a growing international activity, there has been little consideration of the impact of e legal deposit on the 21st Century library or on its present or future users. This edited collection is a timely opportunity to bring together international authorities who are placed to explore the social, institutional, and user impacts of e legal deposit. It uniquely provides a thorough overview of this worldwide issue at an important juncture in the history of library collections in our changing information landscape, drawing on evidence gathered from real world case studies produced in collaboration with leading libraries, researchers, and practitioners. Biblioteca Nacional de México, Bodleian Libraries, British Library, National Archives of Zimbabwe, National Library of Scotland, National Library of Sweden. Chapters consider the viewpoint of a variety of stakeholders including library users, researchers, and publishers, and provide overviews of the complex digital preservation and access issues that surround e legal deposit materials such as web archives and interactive media. The book will be essential reading for practitioners and researchers in national and research libraries, those developing digital library infrastructures and potential users of these collections, but also those interested in the long term implications of how our digital collections are conceived, regulated, and used. Electronic legal deposit is shaping our digital library collections, but also their future use, and this volume provides a rigorous account of its implementation and impact.
